Deas Estate For Negro Hospital.

The will of the late Edmund Deas of Darlington, negro State chairman of the Republican party for many years, has been proved. By its terms all of his personal property is left to his wife, and after her death it is to be sold and the proceeds used for the building of a hospital in Darlington for negroes. Deas left an estate worth probably $25,000 or $30,000. He has no children surviving him.—Newberry Observer.

When You Think of Life Insurance, Think of The Pilot.

Every death claim which follows few premium payments takes just that much away from the dividends for the remaining policyholders.

That's the Economy of Being Classed with Healthy Risks

We are mighty careful about our medical examinations. It's quality of risks that we want. We are not so keen on quantity.

That Is Why Our Record of Loss Is Lowest,

and why our dividends to policyholders so large. Don't get in an unhealthy company. If you do, you'll have to help pay one early death claim after another. No reason for you to carry the burden of insuring others not in your class physically.
